Geebung Special School is a government operated school for students of primary and pre-primary age (about 3 to 12 years) who have intellectual and other disabilities.

Our school caters for about 94 school aged students and up to 40 young children up to prep age. All have been identified as requiring significant educational support arising from intellectual impairment and multiple disabilities.

In addition to teachers and teacher aides, nursing services, speech language pathology and occupational therapy and physiotherapy are provided at the school to enable students to receive a high quality individual education program.

Structured learning environments are provided.

All students are encouraged to become as independent as possible. Each student has an Individual Education Plan (IEP). This identifies priority learning goals which are negotiated by the staff and parents. Access to community facilities is an important part of the total school program as is access to age appropriate activities.

The School Curriculum

At Geebung Special School we incorporate the Key Learning Areas within the school designed curriculum organisers of:

- Communication
- Sensory Discrimination
- Physical Development
- Independent Living
- Functional Academics
- Social development/Community Access
- Leisure and the Arts

The school does not have a “local” community in the way that schools usually do, as the student catchment area is geographically very large, due to the provision of specialised education, therapy programs and nursing care.

Students attending Geebung Special School come from as far afield as Spring Hill, Albany Creek, Brighton and Clayfield.
